THE CHRISTMAS COMMUNITY TREE

Newspapers of High Point Working for It--Woman's Club Active--Hand in your contributions.

Last week The Review announced that it would endeavor to get up a Christmas Community tree and since that time much work has been done on the matter so as to be able to announce something definite this week. The newspapers of High Point, The Enterprise and The Review have joined hands in the matter and will give it widest publicity, the Woman's Club has also so graciously united with the newspapers and with individuals like Messrs. Frank Gurley, Geo. T. Woods, J. M. Hilliard and other gentlemen, with the co-operation of the pastors of the city; there is no reason why we can't pull off a great Christmas jollification for the poor. Mrs. E. P. Kephart will most likely get up a quartette and sing Christmas carols around the tree before the great day to get up enthusiasm and carry out the true spirit of rejoicing such an occasion.

The Woman's Club of which Miss Clara Cox is such an enthusiastic member and worker will appoint a committee to solicit funds to buy the necessary provisions, etc., and the club members have voluntarily taken it upon themselves to see that the children get a stocking full of candy and other goodies perhaps. But much money is needed for the substantial things for the poor families and you are asked to send a hand in your contributions at once. The list of all contributions as well as other people whose names will be announced. Boxes will be placed at the stores so any one desiring to contribute to the fund while trading can do so. The Christmas tree will be stationed somewhere on Main street soon. In the meantime, how much will you give? He that gives promptly thrice gives.

Help the poor of the city rejoice with you Christmas--you will get a great blessing from it.

It will be remembered that the City Council refused to pass upon the recommendations of the firemen this Spring after the Council turned down Fire Chief A. B. Horney when the West End Company and some other firemen quit the service and sued the city for the horse, wagon and other equipment which is claimed was gotten through private subscriptions.

The exercises were very interesting to the people and sacred to every B.P.O.E. Phil C. Cooke, of Asheville, made the annual address which was a fine effort along the lines of charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity. It is a very pretty custom the Elks have of annually paying tribute to their dead "whom are never forgotten" as this particular time "as well as every day in the year at a given hour. The exercises are given in detail below.

The services opened with a quartette composed of Messrs. Gurney Briggs, Frank Ogburn, Don Kirkman and A. W. Angel, who sang "Still, Still With Thee," by Gerrish. The lodge ceremonies followed, Dr. Gilbert T. Rowe delivered the opening prayer.

FACE SERIOUS CHARGE.

Will McCollum and Filmore Dennis, white men and residents of Randleman, were given a hearing before United States Commissioner D. H. Collins Monday charged with the violation of the Mann White Slave act. Each of the defendants was bound over to the present term of District court under a bond of $2,000, which each was unable to give, thereby causing them to be committed to jail. The arrest of these men under a federal warrant was made Monday morning by United States Deputy Marshall Boger.

The defendants were originally arrested Sunday evening by Captain McCuiston and Patrolmen Brown and Glenn, of the Greensboro police force, upon complaint of relatives of the two women in the case, Mrs. Madge Oaks and Miss Ethel Russell, of Randleman. The relatives of the woman had located the four at a local rooming house and made known their whereabouts to the police officers. On May 10th, 1915, Richard Newman Williams secured a money order payable to R. M. Williams for $50 at the local postoffice and Thursday Williams, who had been working at Winston, came here and voluntarily gave himself up, saying that he had no peace of conscience since. He also implicated Charles Suttentfield, until last week employed at the Southern Express company, saying that he gave Suttentfield $5.00 to identify him as the "R. M. Williams." The Williams arrested happened to get a letter addressed to R. M. Williams through mistake and this is why he knew the $50 was at the postoffice. Commissioner Farris placed Suttentfield under a $200 bond, in default of which he was locked up awaiting court and Williams the day he "confessed" waived preliminary hearing and was sent to jail in Greensboro, likewise to await court.
